

The Suzy Shawl

I often get comments on the simple shawl I wear both at historic events and around town. The shape is a triangle. When worn around the neck the shape creates a nice shawl collar, and when worn over the shoulders it has a nice drape. I added a clasp to mine so that I can keep it from slipping off my shoulders when doing something productive like taking in the groceries, but when I'm sittin' and knittin' I prefer to keep it unclasped.

The Suzy Shawl is simply an expansion of the well-known "dishrag pattern." The yarnovers create a lacy hole and also add one stitch to each row. You never have to count higher than 3, so it's a good project to work on at meetings or while watching TV.

This pattern is so easy I often verbally share it, but here it is written down:

Cast on 4 stitches to start. For each row knit 3, yarnover, knit to the end. Continue until the shawl is long enough to suit you.

Mine is 28 inches long (124 rows) and 60 inches wide and is finished with a row of double crochet. I used 7 skeins (50 grams each) of Suzy the Shepherdess medium weight yarn.

Suzy the Shepherdess

(815) 541-0897 • P.O. Box 54 • Stockton, IL 61085
www.SuzytheShepherdess.com • Suzy@SuzyBeggin.com

---

The Suzy Shawl

I often get comments on the simple shawl I wear both at historic events and around town. The shape is a triangle. When worn around the neck the shape creates a nice shawl collar, and when worn over the shoulders it has a nice drape. I added a clasp to mine so that I can keep it from slipping off my shoulders when doing something productive like taking in the groceries, but when I'm sittin' and knittin' I prefer to keep it unclasped.

The Suzy Shawl is simply an expansion of the well-known "dishrag pattern." The yarnovers create a lacy hole and also add one stitch to each row. You never have to count higher than 3, so it's a good project to work on at meetings or while watching TV.

This pattern is so easy I often verbally share it, but here it is written down:

Cast on 4 stitches to start. For each row knit 3, yarnover, knit to the end. Continue until the shawl is long enough to suit you.

Mine is 28 inches long (124 rows) and 60 inches wide and is finished with a row of double crochet. I used 7 skeins (50 grams each) of Suzy the Shepherdess medium weight yarn.

Suzy the Shepherdess

(815) 541-0897 • P.O. Box 54 • Stockton, IL 61085
www.SuzytheShepherdess.com • Suzy@SuzyBeggin.com